WEST SECTION NEEDS CLEAN-UP

Some of the worst conditions yet uncovered by the health authorities and sanitary commission were seen last Saturday afternoon, when the commission made an excursion into the section of the city lying west of Nuuanu avenue.

Falling, leaky sewers, clogged drains, open ditches filled with refuse, slaughter houses in doubtful condition and other signs of insanitation were looked into, and the commission after spending several hours in the inspection returned to the city with the knowledge that the task of cleaning up Honolulu is much larger than it looks at first sight.

One of the biggest surprises—to members of the commission—was to find that the big sewer that empties into the sea has been broken five hundred feet from the end and the outfall is in about forty feet of water instead of much greater depths, as had been supposed. The commissioners viewed the broken pipe from a launch, being taken out by Supervisor Eben Low, who drew their attention to the defect. Much of the sewage is therefore believed to drift back into the harbor.

The week on the sugar market started out sluggishly today, with only one session sale recorded by either the Honolulu or Hawaiian exchange. That was seven shares of Oahu Sugar at 39.375.

Oahu Sugar picked up a little strength during the day, and advanced 12 1/2 cents after two between-board sales at 39.25, but the demand is not heavy.

Six Island wharves used by inter-island steamers in taking on and discharging freight and supplies are in bad state of repair according to reports that have been brought to Honolulu by the officers of coasting steamers.

ABE MARTIN

"Don't eat when you're tired" may be good advice but as usual mother would get the hot end of it. Just when everything is running along smooth and nice the storage houses dump a lot of Kieffer pears on the market.

VALLEY ISLE THEIR MECCA

After a delightful day spent on Maui, one of the most picturesque islands in the Hawaiian group, one hundred and twenty-five travelers pulled into Honolulu a few minutes before six o'clock this morning as passengers in the inter-island steamer Likelike.

The trim little vessel sailed away from Honolulu at half past six on Saturday evening taking one hundred and fifty excursionists who had been recruited under the auspices of the Public Service Association of which

CADET OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

At the annual election of cadet officers for the battalion at Kamehameha last evening, Walter Kamulipili was chosen major and the other commissioned officers elected were: Captains, Harold Godfrey, Gregory Kaanahi and William Kalua; Lieutenants, Harry Burgess, Herman Brandt, George Hewitt, Sydney Smith, Dan Kalelali, Sam Hussey and Charles Hosen.

The election results were gratifying, although several surprises were sprung, and Captain Winters, athletic and military instructor, feels that he leaves the battalion in good hands for his successor, who will take hold at the beginning of the next school year.

Captain Winters will rejoin his regiment shortly, the Third Cavalry, and a new officer will be detailed for military instructor at Kamehameha.

As a mark of their appreciation of his efforts in their behalf, a beautiful calabash loving cup, silver mounted and appropriately engraved, was presented to him by the boys of the battalion.
